FUNDING EVANS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CADDIES SINCE 1930

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CADDIES

THE EVANS SCHOLARS FOUNDATION – FUNDED BY PAR CLUB MEMBERS, SPECIAL CONTRIBUTIONS, THE BMW CHAMPIONSHIP AND OTHER WESTERN GOLF ASSOCIATION PROGRAMS – PROVIDES FULL HOUSING AND TUITION COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS TO MORE THAN 850 DESERVING CADDIES EACH YEAR.

INVESTING IN Tomorrow's Leaders

Leaders on and off the course. With your help, that's who the Western Golf Association is helping to create each day.

Annually, the WGA conducts three of golf's most prestigious tournaments – the Western Junior, the Western Amateur and the BMW Championship, the third of four PGA TOUR Playoff events in the TOUR's FedExCup competition.

Off the course, the WGA sends more than 850 deserving caddies to college each year on full housing and tuition scholarships. Talk about the opportunity of a lifetime.

Since 1930, nearly 9,000 caddies have graduated as Evans Scholars, many going on to successful careers in education, health care, law and business.

This year, 865 Scholars are enrolled at 19 universities across the nation. Most attend one of the 14 schools where the Foundation owns and operates a Scholarship House on campus.

The WGA could not make such a huge investment without the support and contributions from the thousands of golfers across the nation who also are committed to investing in education.

This report recognizes these supporters who, in the past year, have helped us to create strong leaders both on the golf course and in the classroom.

“ I will never be able to thank you enough for making this scholarship possible. I do not know where I would be without it, and I am thankful for every second of it. ”

Economic Downturn Tempers Good News

Dear Friends of the Evans Scholars Program:

As the Evans Scholarship program begins its 80th year, we want to express our appreciation for the support of the thousands of contributors who have helped make our program one of the finest scholarship programs in the country. Our supporters can take pride in knowing that their investment in deserving young caddies is yielding excellent dividends. To cite a few of the accomplishments of the Evans Scholars:

- Academically, the 865 Scholars at the 14 Evans Scholarship Houses continue to excel – all Houses have a cumulative grade point average of over 3.0.
- Our graduation rate is 92 percent.
- The almost 9,000 Alumni have consistently supported the program through their financial contributions – $4.2 million in 2009 alone and $47.8 million total since the program began.

This good news is counterbalanced by the challenges confronting the program, especially during the difficult economic conditions of the last two years. These challenges include:

- A continuing escalation of tuition bills, which have increased nearly 30 percent since 2007 to $10 million.
- An 8.5 percent decline (down more than $600,000) in Par Club contributions in 2009 as many clubs across the country have lost members during the downturn.
- 2009 tournament revenue was $1.6 million less than the previous year – another sign that the economy has affected all aspects of the golf industry.
- As the two pie charts on the facing page illustrate, the combined Par Club and tournament revenue decline, plus tuition increases, led to an operating deficit last year for the first time in 30 years. Fortunately, we were able to cover it with funds from the operating reserve in our Endowment Fund.

To keep pace with the developments in education, we've had to upgrade our facilities and programs while also simultaneously tightening our belts. Last year, a new Scholarship House was completed at The Ohio State University, and this year, the renovation and restoration of the historic Northwestern University Scholarship House will be completed to meet present-day code and Scholar requirements. Scholarship applications are at an all-time high.

The challenges confronting us mean that your continued support is more important than ever. The Evans Scholarship program has played a pivotal role in providing educational opportunities for caddies who have excellent academic accomplishments, an outstanding work ethic and proven financial need. You have also played an important part in providing a life changing experience for the young men and women who have become Evans Scholars. We thank you on their behalf.

on the Course and in the Classroom

Evans Scholar Blane Zavesky and his mom

Luke Mehmeti and Blane Zavesky followed in the footsteps of their older brothers to the golf course.

Both fell in love with caddying at The Dunes Club in New Buffalo, Mich. And now their hard work on the course and in the classroom – both are valedictorians at their respective high schools – has been rewarded with an Evans Scholarship.

Blane plans to study chemical engineering this fall at the University of Michigan, while Luke will be a pre-med major at Northwestern University.

For the friends, family support has been key to their success. Blane had high standards to live up to – both his brother and sister were valedictorians. “They made sure I tried hard in school,” he says.

Now he’s looking forward to giving his valedictorian speech at graduation. “I’ll be nervous,” he says. “I’m not a big fan of public speaking. I just want to say thank you to the people who have helped me along the way.”

Luke’s story begins in Kosovo, where he fled with his family to a refugee camp before their arrival in America when he was 7. Once in the States, he faced culture shock. He recalls his awe of the colorful elementary classrooms and playgrounds. “It was like coming to a high-tech world,” he says. “All the new cars, seeing everyone out and about was so strange.”

Assimilating was difficult, but his parents were encouraging. “They’re always pushing me to the next level,” Luke says. Now he has a valedictorian title to show for his efforts. “It’s really motivational to know you’re the leader in academics,” he says.

For both, the Scholarship is the greatest gift they could have imagined. “It means so much,” Luke says, “to know that people have that much trust in me. I won’t let them down.”

A Lesson in Confidence

Estefania Vigil knows a thing or two about overcoming challenges.

Golf was a major one for her. She entered a new world at Colorado's Roaring Fork Club in Basalt when she began caddying – and it took time to adjust.

“It was confusing for me,” she says. “I was always trying to remember what I was supposed to do. I wasn't very confident.” Eventually, she got the hang of it, and she learned to appreciate the game.

Caddying also presented her a life-changing opportunity – the chance to attend college for free on an Evans Scholarship.

The second youngest of nine in her family, Estefania knew money was tight. But she always dreamed of going to college. “As a little girl, I always saw myself with a business suit and a suitcase,” she says.

She was awarded the scholarship to the University of Colorado in Boulder last fall. And school, she soon discovered, was her next big challenge.

“It's hard living with people from all different backgrounds,” she says. “There were times I felt out of place.” That, too, changed with time. “I really feel like we're a family now,” she says.

Estefania's confidence only continues to grow – and she knows caddying has helped her immensely. “It made me come out of my comfort zone,” she says, “just because I did something most Latina girls don't do.”

Her experiences have taught her a valuable lesson: “I really can,” she says, “do anything I want to do.”

“ I really feel the Evans Scholars are a family. ”

Life Lessons Honored

“The Evans Scholarship program takes a dream and turns it into a reality.”

-Mr. and Mrs. Olivieri

For Bob and Evelyn Thies, the life lessons that have served them best came from their parents.

“We learned that success in life is based not only on your own hard work but on the generosity of others, and we wanted to honor that life lesson,” said Thies, who earned an Evans Scholarship as a caddie at Midlothian Country Club, married Evelyn 18 years ago and now owns a dental practice with two locations in southwest suburban Chicago.

Bob and Evelyn chose to honor their parents by funding two Evans Scholarships: the Nicholas and Mary Ann Thies Endowed Named Scholarship at Midlothian, where Bob and Evelyn now are members; and the Joseph and Adelaide Olivieri Endowed Named Scholarship at Flossmoor Country Club, where the Olivieris were members for 30 years.

For Mr. and Mrs. Olivieri, the Named Scholarship provided a confirmation that their lessons were taken to heart. “Children don’t come with a manual,” they observed. “You just try to lead by example. One day you receive a special honor as this and you think, maybe you got it right.”

“In our family, college has always been a given,” the Olivieris added. “In some families, although this sentiment may be shared ... ‘financially’ it may never come to fruition. The Evans Scholarship program takes a dream and turns it into a reality. Our son-in-law, Dr. Robert Thies, is but one sterling example of the success bestowed upon an Evans Scholarship recipient.”

For Bob’s father, Nicholas, the honor confirms a decision he made as a young man when he married Mary Ann. “I had a wonderful wife and mother. She really did a good job with our six kids,” he said. “We promoted basic American principles of honesty, trust and respect, and to do the best you can.” Mrs. Thies passed away in 1992, but the values she and Nick shared live on through their children.

Dr. Thies, a Western Golf Association Director since 2007, and his wife, Evelyn, appreciate the inherited nature of their core values. “With these scholarships,” Thies noted, “we’re acknowledging that our parents’ life lessons for us were learned.”

A Compelling Reason to Give

John Merriman's first experience caddying wasn't so great.

A few kids from his neighborhood went to the local country club, and he followed. "The first time I went, I was 8 or 9," he says. "It was hard work, and it was hot. I didn't go back for a couple years."

But when he returned to Des Moines Golf and Country Club, the job stuck. He caddied, worked in the pro shop, and even became caddie master. "I enjoyed watching people play golf and the camaraderie with other caddies," he says. "As a teen, it was a nice way to earn some money."

The impressions stuck. His work was rewarded with the opportunity to attend Northwestern University on an Evans Scholarship, where he studied political science and graduated in 1964. "It was a great experience," he says. "I enjoyed it immensely. There was nothing about it I didn't like."

He went on to earn a law degree from Columbia in 1967 and retired in 1997 from a post as Secretary and General Counsel of Equitable of Iowa Companies.

Now, he's giving back. Longtime Evans Scholars supporters Merriman and his wife Barbara are pleased to be able to pledge $750,000 to the campaign to renovate and expand the Northwestern Evans Scholarship House.

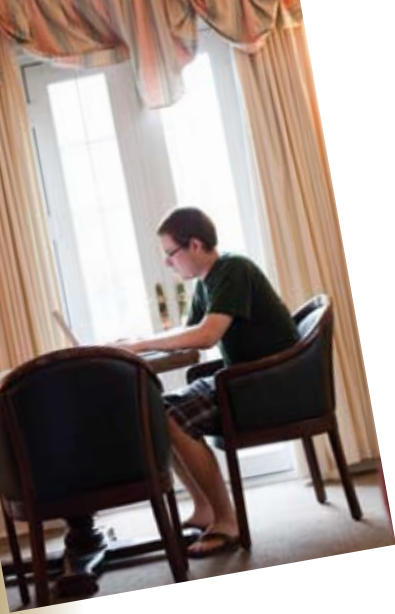

"The idea of continuing to provide Scholarships to attend Northwestern was compelling," he says. "The experience provided me with opportunities I wouldn't have had otherwise."

“There was nothing about Northwestern I didn't like.”

NORTHWESTERN CAMPAIGN

Nearing $6 Million Goal

The Futures on Course campaign, aimed at renovating and expanding the Northwestern Evans Scholarship House, as well as securing the future for Evans Scholars at Northwestern University, has received 148 contributions totaling more than $5 million to date en route toward a $6 million goal.

“We are extremely grateful for the generous support we have received thus far,” said Jim Moore, WGA Senior Vice President of Foundation Advancement. “However, our work is far from complete. We are optimistic that our Evans Alumni will respond to the challenge, and we will meet our ultimate goal.”

A dedication ceremony for the new House will be held at 11 a.m. Sunday, October 10, at 721 University Place. Northwestern University President Dr. Morton Schapiro will speak at the event.

The new building will feature increased living space and accessibility and an updated infrastructure. Construction began in August 2009.

Officials still are seeking gifts from all Evans Scholars supporters. For information, call Director of Development Jerry Dudek at (847) 724-4600, ext. 225.

Saliba Family Aims to Inspire Giving

Tony Saliba and his family, who made a $2 million donation to the Evans Scholars Foundation, were honored at a ceremony on February 5 at WGA headquarters in Golf, Illinois.

The event speakers included WGA Chairman Roger Mohr, President and CEO John Kaczowski and Indiana Evans Scholars. The gift is the largest ever received from an Evans Alumnus.

“Tony’s leadership and foresight in providing this generous gift hopefully will influence other Alumni and program friends to follow suit,” Kaczowski said.

Saliba caddied at Northmoor Country Club in Highland Park, Illinois. After graduating from Indiana University in 1977 with an accounting degree, he went on to become one of the nation’s top options traders, and the only options trader profiled in the bestselling investment book Market Wizards.

He and his family made their $2 million pledge to the Evans Scholars Foundation in 2008 for Chicago-area students to attend Indiana University on an Evans Scholarship. The Indiana House has been renamed in honor of the Saliba family.

The decision to give back just makes sense, Saliba said. “I want to give opportunities to other people like myself,” he said.

BMW Championship

Scoring Dollars for Scholars

Tiger Woods and Camilo Villegas have earned the victor's trophies the past three years, but the BMW Championship also has benefited some lesser known champions – the 865 caddies attending college on Evans Scholarships funded partly through proceeds from the annual PGA TOUR Playoff event.

Since 2007, the WGA-run BMW Championship has raised $7.3 million for the Evans Scholarships. Overall, WGA championships have raised more than $46 million to help send deserving caddies to college since the first two Evans Scholars enrolled at Northwestern University in 1930.

“Our efforts continue to be focused on funding college scholarships for caddies through the generosity of golfers, and a vital part of our effort includes conducting nationally-recognized golf championships,” said WGA President and CEO John Kaczowski. “This year, thanks to our partnerships with BMW and the PGA TOUR, we’re anticipating a major financial contribution from the fourth BMW Championship.”

Western Amateur Championship

World-Class Competition

The Western Amateur, presented by Callaway, features an international field of top-ranked amateur golfers in a grueling medal and match play format.

First held in 1899, the Western Amateur is the third-ranked amateur golf championship in the world.

John Hahn, of Hudson, Ohio, won the 2009 championship, hosted by Conway Farms Golf Club in Lake Forest, Illinois.

The 108th Western Amateur will be played August 2-7, 2010, at Skokie Country Club in Glencoe, Illinois.

“We enjoyed one of the finest-ever Western Amateurs, thanks to the hospitality of the Conway Farms officials, members and staff,” noted Vice President of Tournaments Vince Pellegrino. “Based on the enthusiasm shown by Skokie Country Club officials in our meetings to date, we are looking forward to another excellent championship this August.”

The 2009 Western Amateur field included competitors from more than 30 states and five foreign countries, including many national, collegiate and junior champions.

Past champions include Jack Nicklaus, Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson, Ben Crenshaw, Curtis Strange, Hal Sutton, Lanny Wadkins, Justin Leonard and eight-time winner Chick Evans, founder of the Evans Scholarships.

Future Stars

The Western Junior, presented by Callaway, is the oldest national junior tournament in the United States and annually attracts the top junior players from more than 40 states and internationally.

Zack Fischer, of Wake Village, Texas, won the 2009 Western Junior hosted by The University of Texas Golf Club in Austin, Texas.

The 93rd Western Junior will be held June 21-25, 2010, at Blue Mound Golf & Country Club in Wauwatosa, Wisconsin.

“Watching these young golfers compete, you can see the promise so many have to someday join the professional ranks,” said Vice President of Tournaments Vince Pellegrino. “Just five years ago, Rickie Fowler won this championship at Blythefield Country Club in Michigan. Today, he’s challenging the world’s best golfers on the PGA TOUR.”

The Western Junior field is limited to 156 entrants. Exemptions into the Western Amateur are awarded to the champion, runner-up and third-place finishers.

The tournament has been a testing ground for stars of the future, such as Tiger Woods, Phil Mickelson, Steve Stricker, Ben Curtis, Hunter Mahan, Rickie Fowler, Brandt Snedeker and Fred Couples.

Planned Giving

Today's Commitments to Tomorrow's Scholars

As friends of the Evans Scholarships consider making larger commitments to help preserve the 80-year-old caddie scholarship program, planned giving offers an effective alternative means of support.

Planned gifts can help maximize the value of contributions to the Evans Scholars Foundation and provide possible tax savings for the donor.

“We must find new revenue to guarantee that future caddies will have the same opportunity to attend college as has been enjoyed by over 10,000 caddies since the Western Golf Association first agreed to sponsor the program in 1930,” WGA President and CEO John Kaczowski said.

“While we are struggling to keep up with our annual commitments, we understand that many would-be donors rely on their savings and investments to provide current income,” he said. “By deferring a major gift through planned giving, donors are able to obtain present benefits while knowing that ultimately their invested funds will support their favorite charities.”

Some planned giving programs provide for a continuing income to the donor and a second beneficiary, noted Jim Moore, WGA Senior Vice President of Foundation Advancement.

“Because the laws governing planned gifts can be complex and are constantly evolving, a donor’s attorney or tax advisor should be consulted when a planned gift is under consideration,” Moore said.

The WGA development office is expanding the Evans Scholarships planned giving program, including establishing a means of formally recognizing all planned gifts, added Moore.

“As we face continued increases in our college costs, and as more families face hardship due to a tightening economy, securing the future financial success of the Evans Scholarships is now more important than ever before,” Moore said.

For information on planned giving opportunities, contact Jerry Dudek or Jim Moore at (847) 724-4600 or dudek@wgaesf.com and moore@wgaesf.com.

changing the Course of a Lifetime

We need your help now more than ever. The cost of college tuition continues to increase – and so do the challenges facing the Evans Scholars Foundation in meeting these costs. With your 2010 donation, you can help give the gift of the Evans Scholarship to today's students. It's a gift that not only represents an excellent education, but the opportunity to develop leadership skills, a commitment to service and the beginning of lifelong friendships.

Please make your donation to the Evans Scholars Par Club or Evans Alumni Annual Fund using your giving envelope or by visiting www.wgaesf.com. With your help, future Scholars will excel, inspire and lead.

Preparing for Uncertainty

The Roland F. McGuigan Endowment Fund was established in 1989 to provide protection against unforeseen fiscal challenges which could threaten the financial viability of the Evans Scholarship program.

The fund is named in honor of Roland F. “Mac” McGuigan, the Evans Scholars Foundation’s first educational director, whose visionary guidance and tireless spirit fueled the program’s growth during his 41 years with the Foundation.

“With tuition increases on the rise and uncertain economic conditions ahead, it is vital that the Endowment Fund remains healthy and prepared to protect future funding of the Evans Scholarships,” WGA President and CEO John Kaczkowski notes.

The Roland F. McGuigan Endowment Fund of the Evans Scholars Foundation 2009 Leader Board Honor Roll

Names of endowment contributors who made an initial gift, pledge payment or ongoing gift in 2009 are listed in bold type. Evans Scholars Alumni are indicated by an asterisk.

Golf Professional Par Club Members

The support of golf professionals is especially gratifying to the Evans Scholars Foundation. The cooperation of professionals, especially the club professionals, is essential to the continued growth of the Evans Scholars Program. They are primarily responsible for the continued use of caddies and have the closest contact with potential Scholars. Their desire to give back to the game by helping send caddies to college is recognized with great appreciation.
